*“I’ll work for a smarter Texas.

I’ll be a Texan who works for you.”*

Meet Katy

When the people of North Texas needed a watchdog to fight for clean air in Austin and Washington – they looked to Katy Hubener.

As an advocate for clean air, Katy has lobbied the Texas legislature, the EPA, and Congress protecting our right to breathe. In that role, she has served on numerous committees with business, industry and government leaders including the North Central Texas Council of Governments Clean Air Steering Committee, the American Lung Association Clean Air Committee, and the Holcim Cement Citizens Advisory Council.

“I’ll advocate for a cleaner Texas: clean air, clean water, and clean government. I believe Texas government should be clean and lean, but not mean.”

Katy holds a Masters degree from Claremont Graduate University in Higher Education and a Bachelors degree from Texas Tech University in Education. She has worked for prestigious colleges and universities including the Peter F. Drucker Graduate School of Management, Northwood University, and the Dallas County Community College District. Katy is a certified Texas teacher.

“I’ll work for a smarter Texas. I’ll defend Texas schoolchildren. I’ll close loopholes so we can lower property taxes and fully fund our schools. I’ll fight to keep our universities affordable.”

Katy now works as a consultant, helping nonprofits with their fundraising and media needs. She is a Realtor and owns commercial and residential property.

“I’ll keep Texas working for you. I’ll work to keep jobs in Texas. I’ll defend small business and advocate for common-sense tax policies. I’ll tackle big insurance companies to lower insurance rates and I’ll work to provide coverage for Texas families.”

Fourth generation Texan with deep roots in Southwest Texas, Katy’s family settled in neighboring Sanville in the early 70’s and she attended elementary, high, and high school there.

A conservative Catholic family, Katy knows the value of hard work, and family. Katy now attends Conception in Grand Prairie.

In her race for the Texas Legislature with her husband, brother James, and grandparents Maxine. She is deeply adored by her children and bird dog Carter.
